Rancho's New Community Hall To Open With Photo Exhibit

Carmel Rancho's Community Hall, in the Center's new building shown below -- across the street from Security National Bank -- has been planned as a center for activities of community service. It will be used by property owners groups and organization board meetings. The board meeting of the local chapter of American Federation of Arts will hold a luncheon meeting there on December 10.

An exhibit by a dozen of the Peninsula's photographers has been scheduled for next Saturday, December 7. Invited to participate are Steve Crouch, Al Weber, Wynn Bullock, Ansel Adams, Henry E. Gilpin, Brett Weston, Art Connell, John H. Livingstone, Dave Christensen, Richard M. Garrod, James Zeigler and Barbara McKenzie. Each photographer will show five photographs.

Entries have been selected with an eye to suitability for Christmas giving. The public is invited to attend the opening event from 3 to 5 next Saturday. Refreshments will be served.

The exhibit will remain on view to the public until Christmas week days from 9 to 4:30.

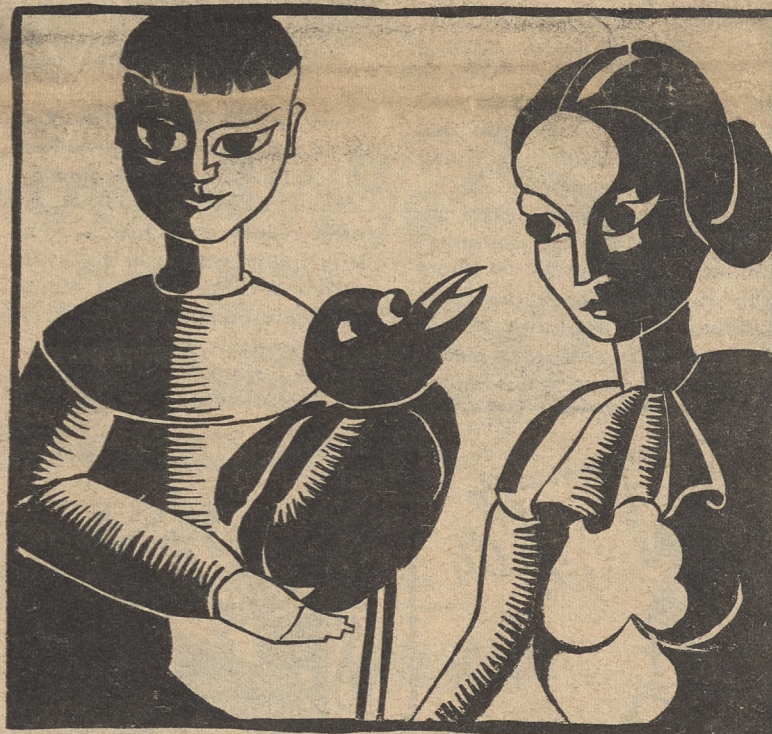

'Tis The Season To Be Jolly . . . ?

The sun was out in force last week, and so were teen-aged Carmel Valley boys in time-honored Huck Finn fashion. Early rains have made the Carmel River a thing of beauty and a joy already, this year. This George T.C. Smith photo was taken looking westward from the Boronda bridge.

AT THE VALLEY ENTRANCE a 37-foot tree in the U-shaped patio of Carmel Rancho's newest building receives the Christmas treatment in preparation for the busy season to come.

PUPPETS RETURN to the Tantomount Theatre in Carmel Valley this weekend for two special holiday matinees, December 7 and 8, at 2:30 p. m. "Two Beans," a puppet production based on a Korean folk tale, is billed by entrepreneurs Geddis & Martin as "comical and fantastic", and is accompanied by a Rabbit Ballet plus showings of "The Trained Seal" and "Blue Danube Waltz" to round out the program. The performance is designed to put children, parents, and grandparents in a holiday mood. All tickets are $1, and for reservations, call OL 9-2405.

Letters To The Editor

Thank you, C. V. Outlook, for the unspoken tribute to our beloved past president, Mr. John F. Kennedy ... Your front page with the American flag at half-mast ... a mute symbol of our grief, needed no phrase or word. What is there to say?.....

Our tears are gone, and we women of America are back at our tasks of raising our children to be future citizens of this great country. May God help us to do this with Faith, strength, and dignity, to the best of our abilities. As average American wives and mothers, may we grow in stature, courage, and great womanliness -- qualities with which our former First Lady, is fully endowed Mrs. J. F. Kennedy.

I know many of us cannot perhaps contribute to our country's needs, in active campaign participation, or in judicial positions. We CAN do our part in a myriad of little ways. We can accept the true brotherhood, and equality of men in our hearts, and teach it to our children by living our lives as examples to them. We can and must control our young people in law and order, and we can be parents to whom they may look upon, for Love, guidance, and discipline.

We can walk away, with a look of contempt when we are faced with a racial "joke", of derogatory nature. Without an appreciative audience this form of expression would soon fade out of existence.

We will make mistakes ... we will falter, but as we turn to prepare dinner for our family, with one more deep sigh of remembrance we will vow to TRY....

Carmel Valley Outlook

Among the many inspiring quotations of John F. Kennedy we have heard in the last few days, one stands out as a symbol of all he lived by: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

Is there anything more important than the youth of our country? By doing something to strengthen the character and unify the spirit of our young people, surely we are following the high ideals set by our great president.

Therefore, we propose that the Carmel Valley Community Center be renamed the John F. Kennedy Youth Center and that every citizen of Carmel Valley reconsider their pledges of support.

Sincerely yours,

A Carmel Valley Mother
(name withheld by request)

(Ed. Note: The outpouring of national sentiment at the death of our president was a marvelous thing to experience. But we feel -- and hope that others are beginning to also -- that if the event is to have any lasting significance on the moral tone of our nation, it will be in "deeds, not words."

We think it quite fitting that some national monuments be named for a great president, but much less meaningful if hundreds of buildings in hundreds of small Villages throughout the nation are suddenly re-named in this way.

We do not mean to dampen the ardor of such an obviously sincere parent who makes such a well-meant suggestion. But we think that what the building is named is far less important than what takes place within its walls.

For example, each mother who is moved by recent events could resolve as Mrs. Twohig suggests to give just a little more time to the success of the various youth programs, or -- even more important -- to the needs of her own family.

At the Thanksgiving dinner which we last week shared with our close relatives, we heard a 14-year old give the following thanks: "I am grateful that our nation is so strong and has such a well-planned government that it could bounce back after the death of our president and have a new president for the future." We personally think that, except for members of the Kennedy family, who must grieve for a long time, it is now the time for other Americans to be thankful indeed that ours is a nation built on the contributions of many men, dependent on the strength of no one -- no matter how great or wise he may have been, or how well-loved! -- B. B.)

Dear Folks,

Would you put in your paper a thank you for the people of Carmel Valley for all they have done and all they have meant to us in the five years we lived there?

We would so very much welcome them to our new home at 100 Tustin Rd., which is about nine miles north of Salinas, about a half mile left, off Highway 101.

And many thanks to all my Avon customers and friends and to the folks for whom I "babysat."

Mid-Valley Property Owners May Disband

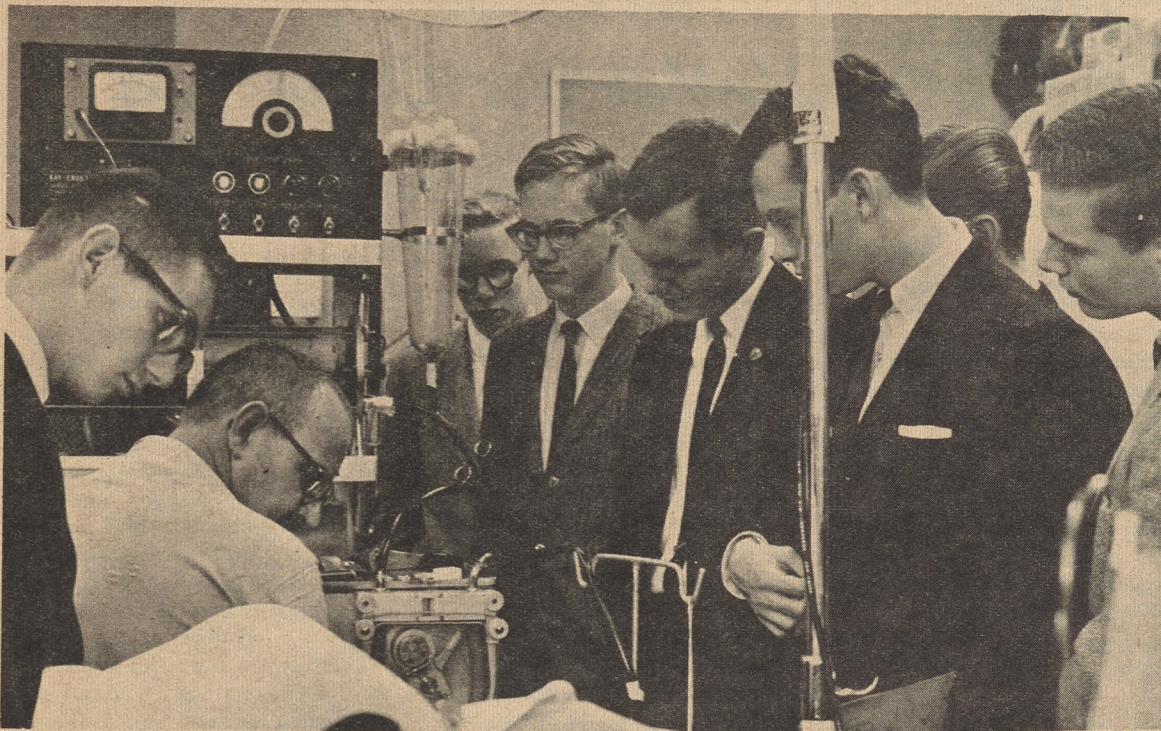

The Mid-Carmel Valley Property Owners Association will meet Wednesday, December 11, at 8:00 p. m. at Carmelo School to consider disbanding in favor of the larger and longer-established Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

Boards of directors of the two groups held a joint meeting recently where this possibility was discussed. It was the consensus of the Mid-Valley board that more effective action could be obtained through combining of the membership of the two groups. Legally, the simplest way to accomplish this, they decided, would be simply to disband the Mid-Valley group with the unofficial suggestion that its members join the larger group. Many Mid-Valley residents already belong to both groups and there is at present even some overlapping of the two boards of directors.

The Mid-Valley group formed two years ago because of strong feelings in that neighborhood that its problems were not receiving sufficient consideration from the CVPOA.

Last year, the CVPOA extended an olive branch by choosing most of its new board members from the Mid-Valley neighborhood to indicate its recognition of the rapid growth -- and attendant problems -- of this area. Since then the two groups have worked closely together and have taken joint action on virtually all problems and projects of interest to the Valley as a whole.

Mark Sinclair of Carmel Valley was among the students who recently attended a medical session at Stanford Medical Center sponsored by the Monterey County Heart Association as the final session of a series of six given to 28 students of the Monterey Peninsula by local physicians at the Community Hospital. One of the high points of the day-long tour of the laboratories and discussions with Stanford specialists was the opportunity to observe the heart-lung machine in operation. Dr. Stofer and students watch as the machine is used in a heart transplant experiment being performed on a dog. Left to right: Richard Love, Seaside High; Dr. Stoger; Mark Sinclair and Jim Purvis of Carmel High; and Gordy Holm, Robert Childers and Allan Williams, Monterey High.

Planning Commission Again Continues Cowan Condominium Proposal

Details of a 65-unit condominium proposed for a 12-acre plot at the corner of CV Rd. and Esquiline Rd. were presented to the Planning Commission last Tuesday by Jack Cowan, owner of the property, and E. H. Bouhaben, developer. The plan shows the actual building taking place on 7 acres at the road level, while the additional 4-plus, through which the river runs, would be put into scenic easement and would also serve as a disposal field for the building sites. Eventually, the number of dwelling sites is expected to increase to 84. The application was continued until December 17 because of the absence of Dr. Edward Marcucci, Valley representative on the Planning Commission.

Bouhaben described the condominium as "having the air of a large private estate"; the entire area would be fenced and accessible through a single gate. The site is presently planted in walnut trees and these would be preserved so that the buildings would be essentially invisible from any public road, the developer said. Home-owners would receive title to their individual building sites, but would own the roads and grounds within the condominium jointly; a monthly fee would be charged for landscaping and road maintenance, and maid service would also be available if desired, Bouhaben stated. Two-bedroom, two-bath dwelling units are anticipated, and Bouhaben visualized these as appealing especially to city-bound husband-and-wife families "who might like to spend their weekends in the Valley in a permanent place of their own but free from any responsibilities of maintenance. Supporting him were Cowan

Chamber of Commerce reported that there was no opposition among the business community; Jim Mustard, realtor for the real estate transfer; and Elmer Uzzell, owner of both residential and commercial property in the neighborhood, who pointed out that the site in question is a tapering-off area between the commerce of the Village and the one-acre minimum residential zones farther out. He called the plans "a different type" from anything previously tried in the Valley, and "more elegant" than present accommodations. It was later called to the Commission's attention that Uzzell is the father of Mrs. Betty Oenning, real estate agent for the transaction.

The Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Committee recommended approval of the application with conditions restricting the project to an ultimate 80 units, holding ground coverage to 20% of the total area, rezoning the river acres for scenic easement, and establishing a County service area to include all 12 acres, reserving four for disposal and recreation. They also recommended that the zoning include design and parking control.

Four letters of protest, totaling seven signatures, objected to the plan as unsuitable for the character of the area, an addition to the density figure provided for in the present zoning, and a source of increased traffic, especially on Esquiline Road.

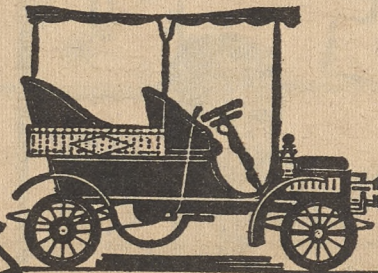

John Sigourney, CVPOA president, appeared for his organization's board of directors, calling the project "suburban" rather than "rural" and maintaining that the people of the Valley had indicated "time and time again" that

The song, "Lavender-blue dilly dilly" could very well have been the theme from which Michelle Holmes' birthday party was taken since these were the color balloons used with white streamers that festooned her home. The table centered with white flowers and white tapers was set with dishes and napkins decorated with lavender-blue flowers. Following the luncheon, games, and gifts, the guests were invited to meet the new colt, "Ratashi" or

"Taffy" for short. Eight year old Michelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanely Holmes invited; Carrie Smith, Susan Senger, Sherry Swiess, Jill Hayes, Tere Schenck, Diana Young, Vickie Van Hagen, Albertina Zarazua, Christine Bottaro, and Jeanne Boehme.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McCombs and daughter, Kay, of 69 Paso Hondo spent Thanksgiving Day in Marina at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Beverly Bewley and their seven grandchildren.

Sherry Swiess celebrated her seventh birthday Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Swiess on River Road. Games were played and refreshments served midst a party color scheme of pink, white and green. Attending were Deena Palmer, Albertina Zarazuga, Laurie Norman, Vickie Van Hagen, Jill Hayes, Kathy Simpson, Christine Bottaro, Sally Bennett, Michelle Holmes, Noel Campbell, Patty Groves, Susan Senger, Sienna Howland, Heida Wheelock, Linda Wilson, Lydia Bresk, Carol Crockett, Diana Young, and Tegan Speizer.

Sincere get well wishes to Ed Mayfield who was able to return to his home on Laurel Drive this week following a stay in the Monterey Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Nason 400 Carmel Valley Road spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. William McPheeters at Rancho Rio Vista. Accompanying the Nasons were their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Salvadore Ruiz and two children, from Reno; their son and daughter, Alexandria and Bill; and Miss Brenda Bradley, a student at Mills College.

The Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department was called to the Thomas Cullen residence on La Rancheria to extinguish a wall fire thought to have been caused by a faulty furnace.

Former residents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Viljoen send holiday greetings "from under a banyan tree" to their many Valley friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Converse and sons, Ten and David, who recently moved to Village Drive from Orinda, are returning there this weekend to spend the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Baskerville of Laurel Drive spent the holiday weekend at Yosemite, where they hoped to find SNOW especially ordered for the occasion by their daughter, Maria.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baker of 125 Ford Road Spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Baker's sister and family in San Dimas, Calif. Very much in their thoughts during the holiday was Mrs. Baker's son, Terry Butler, who left October 21 for Hagen, Germany, where he will serve his two and a half year mission for the Church of Latter Day Saints at the Central German Mission. Terry, an honor student, graduated from Carmel High School and went on to Brigham Young University before receiving his European assignment.

There was a happy housefull at 23 Via Contenta on Thanksgiving Day when Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rickey greeted their daughter, Shirley, down from San Francisco State College; their grandchildren, Chloe and Sharmal Rickey of Fort Jones; and Mr. and Mrs. John Clark and the twins, Winifred and Julia, John Jr., Harold and Winfield who arrived from Millbrae.

Dear Ma:

I guess you had better get my room ready for me again -- Frank is giving me lots of trouble and I ain't about to put up with his crazy ideas any more. Last week he said he was going out with the boys on Sunday nite, Dec. 8 to some stag party they call "Rooster's Nite". Well, I remember that rooster we had at home and all the trouble he caused and I told Frank I wasn't about to let him chase all over the lot. He said it was a Fashion Show -- ha, ha. I can imagine him looking at them purty gals all dressed up in them things that not even we girls mention to each other. I told him that if flour sacks were good enough for me he neednt pull that stuff about frilly, silky things being all the rage.

Ma, I learnt from Agatha that they was even going to have dancing "boys". Well, as you know, I'm broadminded but after all -- they say some local gal named Ellen is going to speak into one of those mikephones and even tell the guys about what those hussies are sporting and what it costs.

Ma, they put some ads in our local paper called the "Outlook" (why even that name is suggestive). They sort of challenged the men to take the night out -- now, you know I'm not one to put my foot down but Frank aint been the same since he saw that picture "Erma La Douce" and I just don't think its fittin for him to galavant around with I don't know who.

Well, Ma, if he thinks he can pull the wool over my eyes he's got another think coming. I aint dumb enough to let him out of my sight and if he goes to that "Inn" run by some guy named "Fried" I'll catch the bus Sunday morning with all the kids. Ma, what's a leeotard?

Your loving dtr,

Emily.

Stupendous Tree Above Schulte Rd.

That stupendous tree ablaze with lights atop Schulte Road, visible from so many parts of the Valley, is the joint work of at least a dozen residents of Schulte Rd., who contributed money and/or labor to the project which all agree should become a yearly tradition.

Many will recognize it as the 45-foot "Lone Pine" which can be seen repeatedly as motorists round curves from the Valley entrance to the Los Laureles Grade.

To deck that special tree -- a favorite with many Valley residents -- with lights was the inspiration of Marie and Milt Frumkin of Saddle Mountain Ranch. The tree is 2 feet beyond their property line and is located on the property of William Cook, who readily gave his permission.

Mrs. Frumkin said she telephoned more than a dozen people and not a single family refused help of some sort toward the project.

Rides in a cart drawn by a pony named "Fashion" will long be remembered by the guests attending the sixth birthday party of Colleen Waters on November 17. Guests were Mark Howard, Mark Olsen, Jeff Fields, Shawn waters, Donnie Brill, Anita Break, Kathy Rutherford, Suellen Waters, Jo Bergholtz, Billy Johnson, and Connie Rutherford. Colleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Waters, Lupin Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Power of Country Club Drive spent Thanksgiving in their former home, Burlingame, with a host of relatives and friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Toland Doud and their three daughters of Merrill Way chose to ignore tradition and observed Thanksgiving with a chicken barbecue and hiking midst the beauty of Fall in the Big Sur country. They were joined by Mrs. Doud's sister, husband and three daughters, the Bob Fischers of Carmel.

Linda Maderak entered her mare, Marty, in the recent model quarter horse show held at the Dinkel Ranch, 806 Old Stage Coach Road in Salinas. Linda and Marty did Carmel Valley proud, returning with a first place in "Mares, Permanent, three years and older"; MQHA Open Reining, "a fourth place; and an award for the "Champion Mare."

David Weaver opened his house on Boronda Road and entertained with a pre-holiday dinner. Among those attending were General C. S. Ridley, Mrs. Kathleen Bell and Mrs. Ruth Buol.

ARCHITECTURAL TOUR ENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Jon Konigshofer are home after spending three months in Europe and a week in New York. Mr. Konigshofer, an architectural designer, says the prime purpose of his trip abroad was to observe and absorb European architecture, new and old, also to meet architects in other countries. He took many photographs and made numerous sketches of buildings and interiors which interested him, while driving through the Scandinavian countries, Germany, Austria, Italy, France, Spain, and Portugal. In the last two countries he discovered new buildings which impressed him more than the modern architecture he saw elsewhere on the continent.

"Actually," he says, "the United States and Mexico are far ahead of Europeans in modern architectural design."

To really see foreign countries, he observes, one should drive through them in an automobile.

"Driving, we saw things we couldn't have seen any other way," he emphasized.

PUERTO VALLARTA BOUND

The annual winter exodus of Carmelites to Puerto Vallarta in the tropics on the Pacific coast of Mexico has begun. Sunday, Mrs. Lise Tescher flew there for a week. She was eager to see what has happened during the past year to Vallarta which has been "discovered" the last month or so since Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton, Ava Gardner, Deborah Kerr, Sue Lyons, Walter Huston and Tennessee Williams, among others, are living there while Williams' "The Night of the Iguana" is being filmed six miles south in an, until then, primitive Indian coastal village.

Next to return to Vallarta will be Louis Conlan who leaves on December 13. Carmel Valley residents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKenzie Jr., plan to spend Christmas there, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dienelt of the Valley are already occupying their house in Vallarta.

MUSSEL HUSTLE

During a low tide at the opening of the mussel season, Howard Byrne gathered sacks of the mollusks and transported them to Reamer's Beach on Carmel Point. Here they were steamed in large kettles and served with special sauces prepared by Mrs. Byrne to about 40 friends invited to the Byrnes' Mussel Hustle, an event eagerly anticipated each year by anyone who has ever partaken of the Byrnes' very special hospitality and culinary skill. The last such party was on November 17.

BUSINESS ASSOCIATION PARTY

Tomorrow evening members of the Carmel Business Association will have their quarterly meeting at the Mission Ranch. A no-host cocktail party starting at 6:30 p.m. will precede dinner at 7:30.

New officers for 1964 will be introduced on this occasion. They are Howard Brunn, president; Hank Fonseca, vice president; Isabel Tostevin, treasurer. Barbara Kramer is the association's executive secretary.

The business association now has 198 members.

MEDIEVAL LIFE...ALMOST

Honey Williams writes that she is enchanted with life at Villa Mercede, a medieval palace in Florence, Italy, now used as a school for young ladies. Her room is atop a tower and apparently she's developing into a star stair sprinter. She is looking forward to seeing a neighbor, John Wilkin, who plans to spend Spring quarter at Stanford in Italy. Honey and John are both residents of Carmel Highlands. Their respective parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Williams and Mrs. Wilbur Wilkin.

FIRST GREAT-GRANDCHILD

Herbert Heron, founder of the Forest Theater, a former mayor of Carmel, poet and Shakespearean actor, has a new role... great-grandfather. His first great-grandchild, Katherine Jean Finn, was born in Sacramento on November 16. Her parents are Mr. Heron's granddaughter, Laurie, and her husband, Tom Finn. First-time grandparents are Bill and Jean Heron, Also of Sacramento.

CHAMPAGNE OPENING

Kitty Bayless, Virginia and Glenn Kearns had a champagne party Nov. 26 to open their new shop, The Sow's Ear. Their little "parlor" sells handbags, or as they phrase it, "silk purses." Other "pretties" for sale in the imaginative little shop down the white brick staircase at the corner of Ocean Avenue and Monte Verde Street. Kitty Bayless is the wife of City Clerk Hugh Bayless.

HARRISES HAVE PARTY

At their recently-purchased home on Hatton Road last week, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Harris entertained with a cocktail buffet for his colleagues at the Fort Ord research office of Stanford Research Institute, many of the leading officers of CDCEC (Combat Development Command Experimental Center, Fort Ord), and their wives. Brigadier General Charles J. Girard and Mrs. Girard of CDCEC were among 50 guests who were present.

This is it... my day to be outlawed. Tonight the city council will vote for the second time on an ordinance making spike heels illegal in Carmel. There appears to be no doubt but that they will be unanimous in their decision against me. After five "Ayes" answer City Clerk Hugh Bayless's roll call, I'll be out... unless I get a permit stating that I will get about the public thoroughfares at my own risk. I'll get it! It's free! Thank you, Santa Clauses Whittlesey, Putnam, Buffington, Blanks and Spencer.

To boot! One of my spies reports seeing Rosalind Russell here last week in the latest in footgear... black knee boots. She also was clad in a short black dress, a rope of pearls reaching almost to her hemline and a big floppy hat. Her heels were the kind the council likes.

Some of my other spies were trying to get back to Carmel Thanksgiving Eve. Traffic was bumper-to-bumper for three miles along the highway as they approached the Peninsula from the North, and didn't thin out much coming over the hill. It must have taken a lot of turkey to feed the crowd next day.

MUSIC SOCIETY CONCERT TONIGHT

Grace Bumbry, the brilliant mezzo-soprano whom critics say will be the first great negro Wagnerian, appears in concert at Sunset Auditorium tonight at 8:30 p.m., under the auspices of the Carmel Music Society.

Time Magazine has described her voice "as a naturally glorious bronze-like instrument that ranged through the house with impressive power." She was born and brought up in St. Louis, Missouri, where she began singing in churches and also began her musical studies which continued in Boston and Chicago.

In 1959 Miss Bumbry went to Paris to further her study. She made a deep impression on the Paris musical world with her singing of Handel's "Messiah" with the Colonne Orchestra. She performed at the Opera of Basel, Switzerland and also appeared with the Paris Opera and the Royal Opera in Brussels.

Tickets may be purchased at the Carmel Music Society's Box Office located at the Graham Music Company, Mission Street near Sixth, Carmel.

the Outlook on Carmel

EDITORIAL

An Audience Of Two ---

Two Carmel merchants, Mrs. Gladys McCloud and Mark Raggett, were the entire audience at the November 26 Carmel Planning Commission study session on parking. Both came as individuals. Both rent off-street parking spaces for their customers. Both were eager to aid the commission in discovering a solution to the present parking situation. Both promised to support the commission's proposal that a mandatory parking law for all businesses be initiated. Both favored an "in lieu" tax on all businesses to implement any mandatory city off-street parking program for the business district.

Mr. Raggett emphasized that the future prosperity of the city depends on the future prosperity of the business district.

The latter's future prosperity is being threatened by shopping centers with extensive free parking, he stated. As a consequence the city's future prosperity is also in jeopardy because of a resultant threatened drop in sales tax revenue.

"We believe that off-street parking is the responsibility of both the business interests and the city," he emphasized.

Mr. Raggett prophesied that Carmel's shopping district, now one of the most beautiful in the country, will in future contain only "motels, restaurants and specialty shops" unless other businesses are protected from out-of-town free parking competition.

"It is almost too late. Residents are forming new shopping habits," he warned.

He also advised commissioners to develop their proposed mandatory parking law quickly.

"The business people are perfectly willing to pay for off-street parking. They have begged the city council for some plan whereby they can pay for parking lots," he declared.

Mrs. McCloud and Mr. Raggett's presence at the planning commission parking session was a welcome indication to the commissioners that they were not operating in a complete vacuum.

The council has requested, and is awaiting, recommendations from the commission on a parking policy for the city.

Prior commission efforts in this respect largely have been overruled by previous city councils; protested by citizenry and businessmen.

In 1959, commissioners framed a section on parking for the general plan of the business district. This section required all businesses, new and existing, to provide off-street parking or pay an in lieu tax to provide the required parking spaces.

This section was cut out of the general plan by the city council in 1960.

Faced with a request for a parking policy recommendation from the present council, commissioners returned to the above 1959 recommendations as the best that could be considered--and they were disheartened.

Mrs. McCloud and Mr. Raggett's approval of these recommendations last week infused new confidence. Commissioners now know they have constructive support and aid coming from the business community.... at least from an audience of two.

Planners Study New Law Requiring All Businesses To Provide Parking

by Marjory Lloyd

Fairly and squarely, Carmel planning commissioners last week faced the fact that continued prosperity of the business community is dependent on more off-street parking. As a result, they will on December 11 prepare a report for the city council recommending immediate measures to acquire more off-street parking for the commercial district.

The report will emphasize four points. They are: it shall be mandatory for all new business developments to provide off-street parking spaces; it shall also be mandatory for all existing businesses to provide similar parking as soon as possible; an interim ordinance be enacted to cover the necessary period for development of a law enforcing the first two points; lastly the commission and the city council shall have a joint meeting.

At this meeting, according to Planning Commission Chairman Fred Keeble, commissioners will ascertain the council's reaction to their mandatory parking recommendations. Should the council's reaction be favorable, he continued, presumably the commission then would be requested to prepare the mandatory parking ordinance.

"We must find out if the city council is interested, otherwise we will not get anywhere," he stated.

Planning Director Floyd Adams informed the commissioners that the city is facing a year of unprecedented new business development. This information led the commissioners to favor an interim ordinance demanding all plans for new developments show off-street parking provision before a building permit is issued by the city.

Existing businesses, it was suggested, would not be required to provide off-street parking for patrons, employees and owners until some method be devised to accomplish this mandatory requirement during the interim ordinance period.

they did not want such developments. Sigourney explained, in answer to a question, that CVPOA members number about 600, but admitted that the resolution to oppose the application in question was drafted at a Board of Directors meeting of about eight people. The plan's proponents indicated that this was the very least amount of opposition that could be expected from Valley residents on any proposal of any size or novelty.

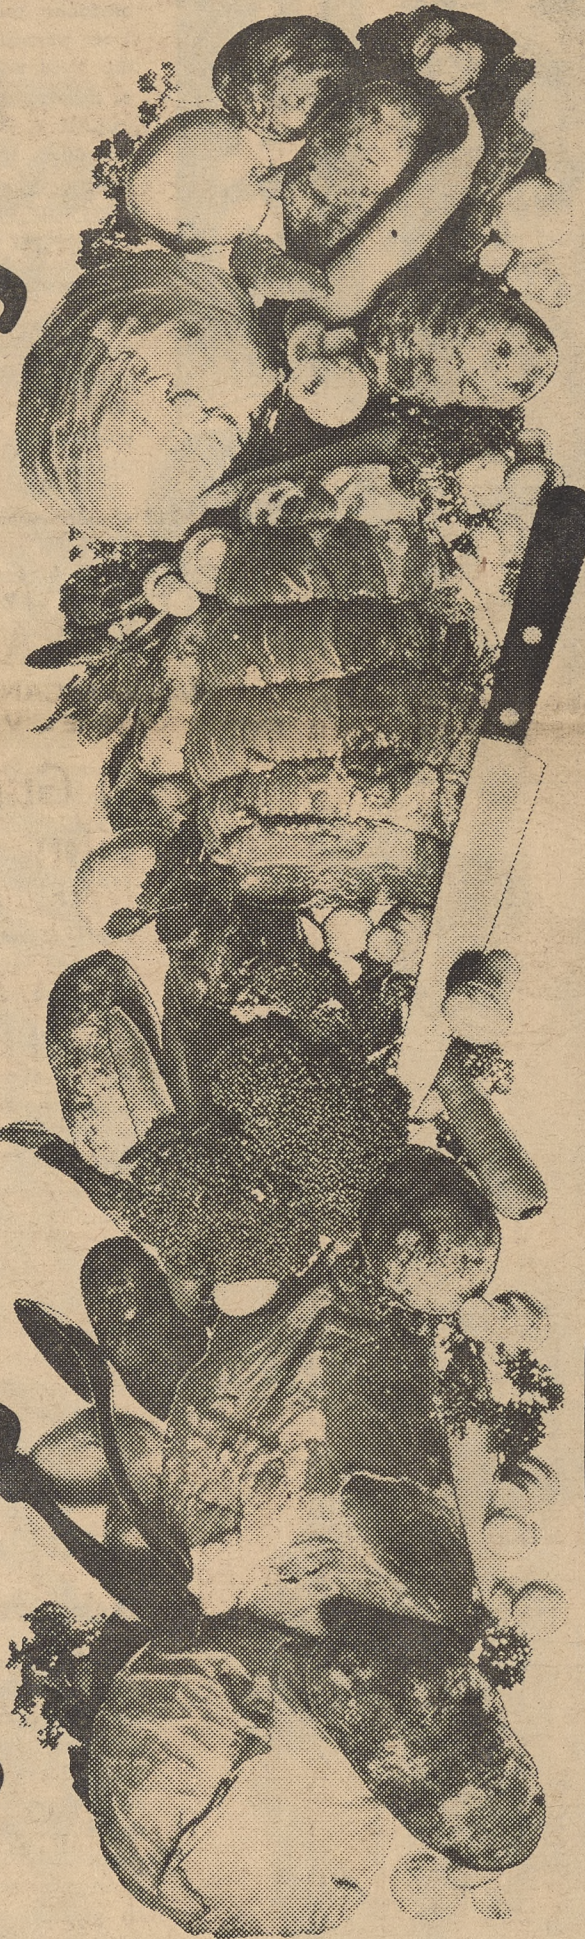

There was also some question as to whether the Advisory Committee had recommended approval under a misapprehension as to the intent of the present zoning. Bob Slimmon, PlanCom staff member, made clear that without a use permit the R-3 zone now on the land would permit a density of one duplex per acre; the request entails a density of seven units per acre, the same as the three retirement communities now approved for the Valley.

Sigourney made it plain that his group would consider a hotel, motel, or other transient facility, which the zoning would also permit, less of a threat to the disposal problems and the tax burdens of the Valley than the permanent residences now proposed.

Discussion among the Commissioners indicated some sympathy for both groups, but action was termed unsuitable without the advice of Dr. Marcucci. In the meantime, the application was referred back to the Advisory Committee for the definite clearing up of any misunderstanding.

A second application for rezoning to permit multiple residential use across from Tulareitos School, submitted by Dr. Galen Egbert, was continued for a period of six months by mutual consent of the applicant and the Advisory Committee, in order that a study now under way by the PlanCom staff may be completed. All zoning in the vicinity of Carmel Valley Village is now being reconsidered in the light of the seven years since adoption of the Valley Master Plan, with the intention of defining areas which should be kept as commercial and others which are suitable for multiple residential use.

SEQUEL

The juvenile court hearing regarding the case of the five Valley girls who were fighting behind the stores on the strip had not been held when this paper went to press. We are told that these hearings are "usually closed", but will attempt to attend and report if possible, when the time arrives.

UNITY FOR STRENGTH

Congratulations to the boards of MCVPOA and CVPOA for their decision that the two groups can operate more effectively as one, so long as representation from all area of the Valley is maintained.

The hatchet was buried some time ago; for the past year the MCVPOA has found the VCPOA a helpful ally and has needed to do little but rubber-stamp approval of whatever the larger group is doing. The point has been made over and over in these columns and by many citizens that the Valley has a better chance of preserving its assets and advantages if both ends of the Valley hang together rather than, as the old adage goes, separately!

Christian Womens Tea December 10

BY MRS. BRUCE GAMMONS

Mrs. Sunzah Park, talented choir director of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, will present special music at the Monterey County Christian Women's Club Christmas Tea next Tuesday, December 10 at 2:00 p. m. in the Sea Scape room at Asilomar.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Pauline Sexauer. After graduating from Nyack Missionary College in New York, where she majored in Bible and Psychology, she assisted in the establishing of a flourishing church in our nation's capital. From there she went to Canton, Ohio, to do mission work, one of the results of which was a city-wide youth program. Mrs. Sexauer is now Director of the Christian Counseling and Guidance Service of the San Francisco Bay Area.

All women are invited to attend and may make reservations at $1.00 each by calling Mrs. Nell Grooms 372-3198. A free baby nursery will be provided at the Mayflower Church, Central & 14th Street, Pacific Grove.

Weaving in and out of traffic is a major cause of accidents on freeways. The best drivers choose their lane with care and move from it only when they are sure they can do so without endangering others, says the California State Automobile Association.

NEWS FROM HACIENDA CARMEL

by Edward G. Petherick

CHRISTMAS APPROACHES

Once again an enormous Christmas tree will grace the entrance to Casa Central. Smaller trees will be placed in the Rincon Room and Casa Fiesta.

Decorations for the Game and Gossip Rooms are almost complete and ready to hang.

Mrs. John Prior, Mrs. Watson Luke and Mrs. William Brown have spent many hours putting these together.

Members are unpacking Christmas lights and ornaments with which to decorate their patios and apartments.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

More than 100 members and their guests enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner on Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Jessie Small entertained Mr. Eugene Hamill, who later showed a fine collection of colored slides of Spain and the South Seas.

On Saturday night we were entertained by Camille Olaeta at the piano and Mary Dobel, cellist, with a series of fine musical selections.

POTLUCK DINNER

Due to the tragic events of the past week it was necessary to cancel several of our programs, including our potluck dinner.

It is now rescheduled for Dec. 9th, and this will also be "Birthday Night" for those members with December birthdays.

TRAVELLERS

Word comes from Chris and Edith Uhlenberg in Japan that they will be home before Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson spent Thanksgiving Day in Piedmont with their daughter and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker are in southern California for ten days.

Christmas Program

For Chapel Guild

The Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild will present a dramatic and musical Christmas Program, Wednesday, December 11th at 1:30 p.m. at the Community Chapel Religious Education Building. Mrs. Sung Park, Musical Director, will sing Christmas selections.

Mr. Moody Addresses CJHS Students

BY GLENN SPRINKLE

Mr. Ralph Moody, a well known author, honored the Carmel Junior High with his appearance Monday, November 18. Mr. Moody gave a brief talk to the seventh, eighth and ninth grade pupils. Moody's speech was held in the library of the junior high.

After about 20 minutes he let the pupils ask questions. One question was, "How long does it take to write a book?" About four months was the answer.

Another question was, "What book did you write first?" Little Britches was the answer. It is a story of Mr. Moody's childhood. Mr. Moody also said that Walt Disney was making a movie of Little Britches. He said it might be playing next spring. According to public opinion it will be watched for by many people.

Sports Roundup

BY STEVE MEADOWS

There were a lot of men with sore backs yesterday morning. The reason: Coach Wes McWilliams' "Sports Roundup."

It was held Monday evening in the CJHS Boys Gym, and proved to be a very entertaining evening.

The spectacular agenda began with pickup volleyball games at 7:00, climaxing about one-half hour later when all had arrived.

Next was a "Sports High Lights" spotlighting the top eleven players in football of the 7th, 8th, and 9th grades. Then followed some enlightenment on the finer points of soccer, by the All-Star soccer team.

A short intermission offered refreshments and a chance for the older parties to catch their breaths.

The final touch to the festivities was supplied by father-son volleyball games.

A Brave First Family

BY PEGGY EDWARDS

Our former First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, has shown a great deal of bravery and courage in the past few days.

When Mrs. Kennedy's husband, the President, was shot in Dallas, Texas, she stayed by his side until she was sent away by doctors. Of all Americans she was probably the most grieved.

All through the trip to Washington, the many processions, and her husband's funeral she held her head up and her eyes front. She didn't once cry in public.

Her husband's body was flown from Dallas to the Washington airport. The body then was moved to the White House, to the Capitol Building's Rotunda on Sunday, and then on Monday it was moved past the White House, to St. Matthew's Cathedral for the funeral, and then to Arlington Cemetery for the burial.

She handled her two children beautifully. She told Caroline to be "strong" like her mommy.

When the three of them climbed the steps of the Capitol Building, three year old John Jr. (or John-John) climbed the 32 steps in a "Kennedy" way. When his father's casket rolled by on a caisson, John Jr. stood up straight and tall and gave a proud salute.

After the burial Mrs. Kennedy had to receive all the foreign dignitaries.

In all, Mrs. Kennedy was a patient, dignified, and sober woman during that weekend's affairs. We should all be proud of our First Lady and her children.

John F. Kennedy Slain

BY KATHY PARKER

Carmel Junior High School was grieved by the astounding news that President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

Some students had transistor radios so the whole school learned of the terrible tragedy. Our student body would like to thank Mr. Dan Yurkovich for making a public announcement to our school about the assassination of President Kennedy.

Inter-Faith Service Draws Crowd

An overflow attendance Thursday morning in Carmel's American Legion Hall put the stamp of success on a first local attempt to combine in a worship service the religions of the Western world, the Middle East, and Asia when the Church in the Round was host to Congregation Beth Israel and the Bahai World Fellowship in observance of the Thanksgiving national holiday.

Seated around a blazing hearth fire, the congregation joined in hymns from Jewish and Christian tradition and heard readings for meditation which included a writer of ancient Egypt. This was followed by remarks by the Rev. Karel V. Vit, minister of Church in the Round, and he closed his sermon with the reading of the late President Kennedy's Thanksgiving proclamation, which brought tears to many eyes.

STAMP CLUB MEETS

The annual dinner of the Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club was held recently at Reuben's Dinner House in Carmel Valley, marking the 14th anniversary of the founding of the club -- now one of the oldest stamp clubs in northern California.

Invited as guests of honor at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Erie of Oakland, California. Mr. Erie, president of the Council of Northern California Stamp Clubs, was expected to entertain the group with his philatelic reminiscences.

The following recently elected officers will direct club activities during the coming year: President, Lcdr. John M. Johnston, Monterey; Vice President, Col. William M. Gosman, Carmel; Secretary, Miss Alice Harwood, Carmel Valley; Treasurer, Fred E. Starr, Carmel Valley.

Mrs. Branch Speaks

BY CHELSEA MILLER

Mrs. Betty Branch, editor of the Carmel Valley Outlook, spoke to journalism classes at Carmel Junior High on the process of printing a paper.

Mrs. Branch explained the "cold set" process of printing her paper which enables the Outlook to turn out 4,000 copies a week with much greater efficiency than the old method.

Horse Tales

by Allene Buchenroth

Just perfect was the day, and perfect was the teamwork of the committee that helped put on the Thanksgiving Gymkhana at the T & S club grounds. I had a wonderful time watching and helping the happy-faced young people who turned out in totally unexpected numbers with their four-footed partners to join the fun.

We didn't get to use all the events planned - Time just flew by, but we did send everybody home very shortly after the time promised, so no one would miss Thanksgiving dinner. So many people told me they had a good time I felt very thankful -- a gain -- Thank you! from me to you -- all who came and helped and all who rode -- and all who just watched -- It was fun - and we have enough money to build some training jumps for the club!

What a wonderful list of things comes to a horseman's mind when he (any age) is asked what he wants for Christmas -- most any kind of tack (horse equipment) is thrilling to get and "most generally" needed. Don't forget the wonderful magazines such as "Horse Lover", "Western Horseman" and others of more specialized interest as the "Quarter Horse Journal" or "Arabian Horse News".

They bring fresh pleasures with each issue throughout the year and the quality of material used is very good in them all. I'll be glad to tell you where to send. Just call me.

Planning to breed your mare this spring? We have some fine stallions here in Carmel Valley -- and good breeding in a pleasure horse is always money well spent. I'll introduce you to some really elegant sires for your colts in this column soon.

cast are Phil Rayher, David Kirk, Bart Booth, Joe Bennett, Tim O'Conner, Ernie Payne and Mohammed Naficy. Gabbie Goffinet plays "Dunyasha," a maid.

Morgan Stock is directing what he describes as a play "difficult to stage." Thornton Harby, MPC instructor in stagecraft, designed the two sets for "The Cherry Orchard."

Curtain time for the first seasonal offering of the MPC Players is 8:30 each evening, with the exception of December 8 (Sunday), when the Little Theater on Campus will be dark. Tickets - $1.00 for adults, 75 cents for students - will be on sale at the door.

MPC Drama

Three experienced little theater actresses will have leading roles in the Monterey Peninsula College production of "The Cherry Orchard" December 6 through 14, Morgan Stock, MPC drama department chairman, announced today.

The trio includes students Mary Gannon, Val Risely and April Edwards. Miss Gannon and Miss Edwards played in the recent Circle Theater production of "Summer and Smoke" in Carmel. Miss Risely drew critical acclaim for her starring role in the same theater's playing of "A Taste of Honey."

In the MPC version of the Chekhov comedy-drama of Russian family life, Mary Gannon stars as "Madame Ranevsky," a member of the aristocracy to whom money means nothing -- until she suddenly becomes poor.

Val Risely plays "Vanya," Madame's oldest daughter. April Edwards is "Charlotta," governess and amateur magician. Anita Botkin, as Madame's youngest adopted daughter, is a fourth female lead.
